St Ives Recreation Ground

Today we welcome Chard to The Recreation Ground for this latest Tribute Western Counties West league match. We hope you have an enjoyable and entertaining afternoon.

Chard is the only club from Somerset in this league. This will be their furthest trip of the season. Their location means that the league they play in depends, to a degree, on which other clubs are relegated or promoted. They have enjoyed their highest league status in recent years, with a spell in South West One West and a season in National league 3 South West. Prior to this they were in the Somerset leagues. So paths have not crossed, certainly in recent history. Others may have better memories than me.

Of five wins this autumn, Chard have captured only one victim away from home; Burnham on Sea back in early September. Coach, Mark Wesemann will be hoping for a change of fortune.

St Ives will be fully intent on preserving 2nd place after a win on the road last week. A long trip to Crediton is followed by the last home match of the year, against Devonport, which could prove vital.

The match referee today is Al Denham. We remind all spectators to afford our officials respect and appreciate their efforts in the cause of rugby.

Please join us in the club house after the match for a drink and a chat.
