St Ives v Devonport Services

Saturday 15th December 2018

KO 2:30p.m.

St Ives Recreation Ground

With a repeat of this fixture from the same time last season St Ives reach the half way point of their first season in the Tribute South West 1 West league since 2010-11, we give another warm welcome to Devonport Services, a regular opponent in recent years.

Last year our visitors finished 2nd in the Western Counties West league and won their playoff at Chew Valley by 12 points to 22. Here at the Rec the score was 34:19. In the previous season it was Devonport who came out victors by a four point margin 14:19 (17th Dec.). In September 2014 St Ives succumbed 17:27. St Ives can expect another tough assignment, but will hope to continue their good form, with five straight wins since the start of November, to redress the 26:22 loss at Devonport in September.

Newent, who also have a game in hand, are our closest rivals for third place. They face top of the table Launceston. Defeating fifth placed Devonport Services today could consolidate The Hakes' third position in the league. All speculation, though. Sounding like a politician! Suffice to say, we anticipate another entertaining afternoon of live rugby. Next Saturday St Ives travel to Teignmouth to catch up on the game they missed on 24th November, to bring the curtain down on a special year of rugby for the club.

Today's match official, Dan Driscoll, has travelled in from Devon. Please afford him total respect as he carries out his often thankless duties.

Please drop into the club house after the match. There is a hog roast and carol singing later on and, don't forget, Heads & Tails. Well done to those of you wearing a Christmas jumper. Season's greetings to all.

The test of time...

Only eight from Devonport and nine from St Ives played in this fixture a year ago. A notable absence from the Devonians is the ever reliable boot of Matt Anstis.

The Hakes field an almost unchanged selection after last week's win at Hornets. Martyn Lawrance returns (at flanker) for Aden Brassington, while Rob Elloway takes Chris Fuca's place on the bench.

Player News...

Jamie Hoskin's shoulder is on the mend. He should be back in January.
Kye Beasley is still resting after his HIA.
Ben Jenkins has work commitments at present.
Rumour has it that a utility back will be signed before Christmas??
